Later in the fall and heading towards winter, we begin to really focus on problem and solution and cause and effect in our stories. My first grade students by this point have been introduced to these ideas, but now they will dive in and not only identify each of these in a story, but also take note on how important they can be to the plot.

Read Alouds for Problem and Solution, Cause and Effect ... We recall the big problem and how the characters resolved the problem. This helps first graders come up with the central message. First students discuss the problem to engage all learners and get them thinking. Then a volunteer shares their ideas. The class engages in discussion and we determine if the idea is valid by using evidence from the text.
